The fully enclosed sound barrier is a tunnel mounted sound insulation system that has excellent sound insulation performance and is highly integrated, taking into account urban landscape, structural safety, and internal lighting. It is suitable for environments that are sensitive to sound insulation and harsh. Mainly used in high-density commercial areas with high requirements for sound insulation, urban expressways, subways, high-speed railways, and other buildings and densely populated areas.

The flexible and high-strength modular design of the fully enclosed sound barrier, with unique flexible connections and non welded rivet characteristics, as well as anti ultraviolet and anti wind and snow loads, extends the service life of the project. In addition, its excellent sealing and anti leakage properties ensure sound insulation effect and are easy
